Week of September 7—11, 2015

LANGUAGE ARTS and READING

SOLs: 3.1, 3.4, 3.5

The students will not have a spelling list this week because of the four day week. Check over last week's test in folder. Many students are having trouble sorting by the feature.

The students continue to work daily on a passage in their notebook to explore the many ways to look at and learn from written text. This week we are looking at a thank you letter.

For reading this week, we will be reading about an assigned holiday and sharing our findings with the class to better understand our national holidays.

We will also do a scored writing assessment about our favorite holiday and why.

The students have a new reading log in their AR folder. I will evaluate their reading from the last two weeks and give you a scored report in the Wednesday folder. Remind your child to take the AR test after completing the book.

MATH

SOL: 3.1

We are finishing SOL 3.1 this week. The test for this SOL will be next Monday. This week we are focusing on the rounding portion of SOL 3.1. Students will be rounding to the nearest ten, hundred and thousand in numbers up to 9,999.

IXL homework continues, and students should be writing in their log each night. They should keep track of the assignments they do on the page that will be turned in bi-monthly. They keep track of their 100% completes on the stapled page. If you have questions, feel free to call me.

Upcoming Events:

September 17—Back to School Night

September 18—Fundraiser Kick Off Assembly.

September 24—Picture Day

Make sure you are looking over your child's agenda in the Binder nightly. Be sure assignments are completed and check for any notes from the teacher. Don't hesitate to write notes back to the teacher in the agenda with questions or concerns.

Corrections can be made on any papers in the Wednesday Folder that your child feels could use a grade improvement. Any and all corrected assignments should be returned within a week.

If an assignment says, "Correct and Return," it is expected that the student do those corrections and return them to school.
